Dear Friends,

For all of the time our foundation devotes to relaying facts and figures about our Harris Methodist hospitals, they often fall on deaf ears. Perhaps we would be smarter to focus our efforts 16 inches lower. Time and again, we are reminded that it is the grateful heart that inspires the act of giving.

This issue of STARS pays tribute to the capacity and power of the grateful heart – to heal pain, to express thanks, and to touch others. At Harris Methodist Health Foundation, we see these grateful hearts in action through the gifts we receive each day. This graciousness is reflected in the center of this magazine with the Alliance of Stars – pages and pages of names who gave to help others. Often we are left to wonder what inspired such generosity. But in other cases, we come to understand how the care and support delivered in our hospitals moves the grateful heart to pay it forward – and how powerful that can be.

Such is the story told by Gloria and Quad Boenker. Relationships built with the physicians and staff at the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at Harris Methodist Fort Worth inspired a gift that will offer hope and support to others for years to come. Fred and Mary Attaya similarly chose to honor those who provided more than a year of exceptional care to Fred with a gift of enduring value. And for John Stevenson, his gift in recognition of physicians and nurses truly came from a grateful heart.

Beyond these stories, enjoy reading about two of the signature events on our annual calendar – Puttin' on the Pink and the H•E•B Gala. The efforts of dedicated volunteers supporting these events again reminded all who attended that the availability and quality of health care cannot be taken for granted. Please also take a moment to admire the grateful heart of Edna Anderson, who feels she has a responsibility to support those who care for others. To her, it is really that simple.

On behalf of the board of trustees and the staff of the Harris Methodist Health Foundation, thank you for inspiring our best efforts through the expressions of your grateful hearts.

Sincerely,

Robert Capper, M.D., Chairman, Board of Trustees
Harris Methodist Health Foundation

High-Tech Help, Heart-Felt Hope and Compassion for Area Women and Infants

1930.

The year Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital first opened its doors.

300,000.

The number of babies born at the hospital since that time.

$20 million.

The cost of a recent construction and renovation project that has made the Center for Women and Infants' Health at Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital one of the most comprehensive, comfortable and customized health care facilities in the area.

The numbers are impressive, but at the core, the Center for Women and Infants' Health is really about stories. Each one of those 300,000 births represents a family touched by Harris Methodist. The Boenkens of Weatherford are one of those families.

Their story began with the birth of their son Quint. By all accounts, it had been a perfectly normal, healthy pregnancy – until February 13, 2007, 24 weeks and 2 days into the pregnancy.

It started with a headache. It quickly progressed to a diagnosis of preeclampsia and several days as an inpatient at Harris Methodist Southwest Hospital. When pulmonary edema (fluid around the heart and lungs) set in, Gloria Boenker was transported by ambulance to Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital.

The newly renovated Center for Women and Infants' Health was designed in collaboration with local patients, families, donors, doctors, designers, architects and builders to ensure that every need and purpose was met with efficiency and comfort. Quality is the hallmark of the facility, not only in terms of the advanced technology, high-risk services and innovative surroundings, but also in relation to the personalized care provided for every patient and family. Here, care is offered for every stage of a woman's life and is delivered with a finely-honed focus on compassion and personal connection.

Virtually every aspect of the Center for Women and Infants' Health has been improved or expanded in the recent renovation. Specifically, the enlarged newborn nursery provides more than 7,000 square feet of brightly designed space for the newest additions to area families. Fifty-seven redesigned post partum rooms (increased from the previous 41) feature inviting overnight accommodations for dads, remodeled bathrooms with spacious walk-in showers, and in-room vanities with plenty of storage for personal belongings all housed in warm, relaxing surroundings where mothers recover after childbirth.

The 29-room antepartum unit offers high-tech capabilities and hotel-like amenities for high-risk pregnancies that can often require hospital stays ranging from weeks to months. Waiting areas throughout the facility have been expanded, updated and outfitted with furniture and features aimed at increasing comfort for families and friends. Nursing stations have been relocated and redesigned to maximize health record privacy and patient care efficiency.

The Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, already one of the largest and most respected in the region, has grown to a total of 67 beds where the tiniest patients receive the most specialized care – and where babies like Quint Boenker have the best chance in their fight for survival.

The NICU became the backdrop for the bulk of the Boenkers' Harris Methodist story. When Quint Boenker was born 16 weeks early, via c-section, parents

Gloria and Quad were grateful to be in a hospital that was equipped for and experienced with extremely premature infants. They found great comfort in the fact that their baby was in a place that not only had the technology and knowledge to give Quint the best possible chance, but also the commitment and compassion to provide care that went beyond the medical.

"The doctors and especially the nurses blew us away every day. Those nurses are like the preemies' mommies. When your baby is on a ventilator, you can't touch him or hold him. So the nurses do it for you. We are so grateful to those nurses. They truly do care. It's not just a job for them," Gloria Boenker says.

While babies are at the heart of it all at the Center for Women and Infants' Health, they aren't actually the whole story. The Center operates with the understanding that women's health care needs are about more than just childbirth. So a full range of services address the spectrum of health needs a woman may encounter during the course of her lifetime. From gynecological care and surgery to heart health services – all are provided with the quality and personal attention that are the cornerstones of Harris Methodist. Bone density, vascular and breast cancer screening services are also offered. The new Kupferle Education Resource Center provides a wide range of educational materials on all kinds of women's health topics. The Healing Arts Center offers spa services that promote health and well-being. Rounding out the offerings are two advanced services that complement the Center's childbirth care.

For couples struggling to conceive, Assisted Reproductive Technology Services (ARTS) at Harris Methodist provide the full range of infertility treatment, from the simple to the sophisticated. Infertility diagnostics such as hysteroscopy, hysterosalpingogram, and laparoscopic surgery are offered as are treatments including intrauterine insemination, in vitro fertilization, and intracytoplasmic sperm injection.

Another highly advanced service, called Bubble CPAP, offers lifesaving care for the tiniest Harris Methodist patients. Used in the neonatal intensive care unit, Bubble CPAP is a breathing assistance system aimed at decreasing chronic lung disease in premature babies. Underdeveloped lungs are one of the biggest and most common threats faced by premature infants. Continuous positive airway pressure, or CPAP, is a breathing system commonly used to deliver airflow and pressure to an infant's lungs via short prongs in the nose. The air pressure helps to keep the lungs open at the end of exhalation while allowing the baby to initiate breathing. But a simple twist in this system – the addition of bubbles – is proving even more effective in helping babies breath on their own while decreasing the need for mechanical ventilation. Harris Methodist Fort Worth was the first Metroplex hospital to implement this system and is one of only two in the area to offer the service.

Gloria Boenker and baby Oaklie at the Chandor Gardens in Weatherford, Texas.

Besides advanced technology and the compassionate delivery of care, the common link that ties these two high-tech services together with all of the other offerings at the Center for Women and Infants' Health is the simple aspect of hope. Hope for healthy pregnancies, healthy babies, and healthy lives. Which brings us back to the Boenkens.

When it comes to hope, the Boenkens found it in the unlikelyst of scenarios. After fighting for nine days, little Quint passed away on February 22. But remarkably, Quad and Gloria Boenker were able to focus on the positive in the most heartbreaking of circumstances. "You would never choose to lose a child," Gloria says. "But if it had to happen, this is how I would want it to be. The care and support of the people at Harris Methodist touched our lives and hearts forever."

And in a move that brings the idea of hope full-circle, the Boenkens created a charitable foundation in Quint's memory that has pledged a $250,000 endowment fund (to be matched by Texas Health Resources for a total endowment of $500,000) to support the care of premature babies at Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital. "We created the Quint Boenker Preemie Survival Foundation to offer hope and support for premature infants and their families," Gloria says. "We believe that the purpose of Quint's life was for us to form this foundation to help others experiencing what we went through. This is also a way for us to ensure that Quint's name will live on and that he will be remembered."

This past April 3, the Boenkens welcomed a new baby girl, Oaklie, into the world. She joins big sister Joellie and is an angelic, adorable reminder of the fact that life goes on. "We hope to get the girls involved with the foundation as they grow up," Gloria says. "We plan to make sure they never forget their brother and that they realize the importance of offering help and hope for other babies. We'll also make sure they know what strength and support we found in the compassionate care we received at Harris Methodist."

Help, hope and compassion.

Now that's the stuff of happy endings...and beginnings.

Special Celebration Honors Donors

You've heard the saying "It takes a village to raise a child." Well, it also takes a village to raise the money to renovate a high-tech, high-touch place where children are born. More than 300 individuals, families, companies and organizations donated $3,560,000 to the $20 million renovation of the Center for Women and Infants' Health at Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital.

On May 8, the Harris Methodist Health Foundation celebrated the successful completion of the project's philanthropic campaign with a special dinner event honoring key donors. Held on the campus of the downtown hospital in the Harris Professional Center lobby, the event featured food from Reata and messages of gratitude and growth from Harris Methodist leadership.

To cap off the evening, guests were given personal tours of the newly renovated center where the Donor Wall and donor plaques proudly display the names of those who helped make the dream of this innovative and individualized facility a reality.

Gratitude:

Patients Pay It Forward to Help Others

Gratitude, when turned into action, is a powerful thing. At Harris Methodist, grateful patients have impacted practically every area of service through their philanthropic support over the years. Scores of appreciative patients have donated funds for growth and renovation of hospital facilities, educational and outreach opportunities, service improvement, and equipment purchases.

John Stevenson is one of those patients. He felt compelled to offer a gift of gratitude after receiving lifesaving care at Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital last spring. When a heart attack brought him to the ER, he and wife Roxy weren't surprised to find technologically advanced medical care at their local hospital. However, they were taken aback by just how compassionate, committed, and comprehensive that care was. "Every aspect of the care we experienced was just exceptional," Roxy Stevenson says. "The nurses were so calm and competent, and they had a sense of humor which helped dispel the fear we were feeling. Everyone was so responsive to John and our whole family. The facility was lovely, and I was so impressed with the cleanliness."

To show their gratitude for the care John received, the Stevensons sent a donation in honor of John's caregivers. It's just this type of scenario, played out repeatedly over the years, that indicated the value of an organized program for patient giving. To that end, the Harris Methodist Health Foundation is implementing a Grateful Patient Program to add more structure around efforts to provide patients an easy and convenient way to honor caregivers who have made a lasting impression.

Special brochures that make it easy to honor or recognize caregivers will be available to patients and visitors throughout the hospital. Physicians will also be asked to play a more active role in bridging the connection between the hospital's fundraising program and potential grateful patients.

Mary and Fred Attaya are a local couple who also felt driven to tangibly show their appreciation for their Harris Methodist experience. After undergoing surgery on a torn achilles tendon at another area hospital, Fred acquired a medication resistant staff infection that grew into a non-healing wound. After several frustrating months of unsuccessful treatment, Attaya's cardiologist referred him to the Wound Healing and Hyperbaric Medicine Center at Harris Methodist Fort Worth. During his subsequent year of care, under the direction of the late Bud Prather, M.D., Attaya's wound was successfully treated. "Dr. Prather never gave up on anything. There's

The Attayas established an endowment of $100,000 (to be matched by Texas Health Resources, the Harris Methodist parent company, for a total of $200,000) specifically directed to the Wound Healing and Hyperbaric Medicine Center. Because of their desire to pass their appreciation on, the Attayas have ensured that a greater number of patients will receive the limb and life-saving care they need.

"If I had to sum up the care we received at Harris Methodist, I would describe it as personal, gracious, responsive, and respectful," Mary Attaya says. "Everyone we came in contact with – from the doctors and nurses to the valet parkers – made us feel like somebody cared. You felt like you mattered. The whole experience was so impressive to us, that we wanted to show our gratitude in a way that would help others going through what we went through."

no quick fix for treating these kinds of wounds. A lot of patients dealing with this feel hopeless. But Dr. Prather and his staff made you feel like there was always hope. That's part of the reason we felt moved to give back to the program in his honor," Fred Attaya says.

It's exactly that attitude of gratitude and desire to pay it forward that is at the heart of the Grateful Patient Program. Now, more than ever, Harris Methodist patients can easily turn their personal experiences into lasting support that will impact future families and patients for years to come.

Honor Your Doctor Campaign

Patients say “thank you” to their physicians in a meaningful way

More than 250 Harris Methodist physicians were honored by their patients who decided to express their gratitude for the care they received with more than just words. Through the Honor Your Doctor Campaign, patients acknowledged their physicians by paying tribute to them with a charitable contribution in honor of their service. The donations received will provide funding toward programs and services at Harris Methodist Hospitals that positively impact the health care in our community.

For more information about this campaign or to participate, please call Susan Dalton at 817-317-5232.

Edna Anderson's Charitable Gift Annuity Leaves a Legacy of Helping Others

As you might expect from someone who is past her 90th birthday and still enjoying life, Edna Anderson has learned what is important. High on Edna's personal list of things that make her happy are charity work and giving to others.

"I get a lot of pleasure out of helping people who are deserving and appreciate the help," says Edna.

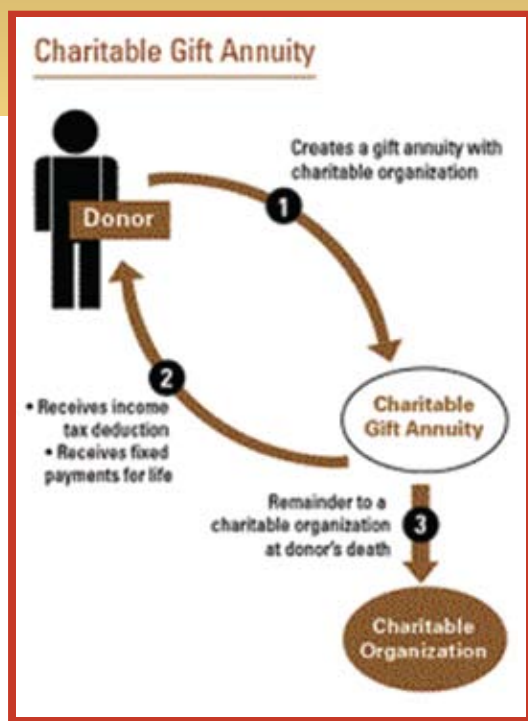

This philanthropic spirit, which was passed on to Edna by her grandfather and her parents, prompted the former elementary school teacher to establish a charitable gift annuity (CGA) with Harris Methodist Health Foundation.

Born in 1915, Edna has lived in the area all of her life. She and her late husband, Reginald, who became superintendent of mails at the Hurst Post Office, were married in 1934. At that time, the population of Hurst was 98.

Reginald passed away just shy of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary, and in the years since, Edna began making decisions about what should be done with her assets. She decided to support organizations that help others - and make gifts that would be lasting and continue after she was gone.

Edna named Harris Methodist H•E•B Hospital the recipient of a CGA because of the quality care it has provided to so many of her friends, as well as the charity care it offers to area residents in financial need. In return, she received a significant income tax deduction and will get regular payments for life.

"It's wonderful to have a facility like H•E•B so convenient and close in our neighborhood," says Edna.

She adds that she is thankful to have been able to make a gift to the hospital and its Foundation. "I had the funds and I needed to use them to the advantage of others."

2008 Harris Methodist H•E•B Hospital Gala

and guests certainly felt like they were on a tropical getaway when they arrived at the Dallas Marriott Las Colinas on April 19. Dressed in bright colored, flowing gowns and tuxedos, attendees embraced the spirit of the Caribbean and provided more than $148,000 to benefit the Nursing Enrichment Endowment.

Providing a Caribbean ambiance, a steel drum band performed in the lobby as guests attendees were treated to live entertainment by local Island Dancers, while some enjoyed their meal gathered around a water table with fountains in the center.

Local community leaders dressed up and performed live auction skits, complete with break dancing, followed by the auction led by auctioneer Garry Hamilton, senior vice president at JPMorgan Chase Bank and Harris Methodist H•E•B board autographed football by some of "Da Boys," dinner at Nove Italiano followed by drinks at Ghostbar and an overnight stay for six at The W in Victory Park; a trip on American Airlines to Aruba; and a custom designed ring by Luxor Custom Jewelers.

"I am so pleased and excited with the funds raised at this year's event," said 2008 Gala Chair Karen Parsinen. "The gala provides funding to such a worthy cause and I cannot think of a more deserving group of caregivers."

The Harris Methodist H•E•B Hospital Nursing Enrichment Endowment provides funding to support the professional needs of the hospital's 470 nurses, allowing them to pursue additional education and training. The endowment exists to raise the overall level of nursing knowledge and expertise, ultimately translating into enhanced care for patients and their families.

For more information about the gala, please call Brenda Whitley at 817-685-4456.

HCCH Receives Prestigious Designation

Harris Continued Care Hospital (HCCH), located on the campus of Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital, has been awarded the prestigious Pathway to Excellence™ hospital designation. This is the first year the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) has presented this global designation, formerly known as the Texas Nurses Association's Nurse-Friendly Hospital designation program. The Pathway to Excellence designation is earned by health care organizations that create work environments where nurses can flourish.

Texas Health Resources Among DBJ's "Best Places to Work"

Texas Health Resources (THR) was recognized in the "Large Businesses" category as one of 15 recipients of the Dallas Business Journal's (DBJ's) annual "Best Places to Work in Dallas/Fort Worth" designation. This recognition, now in its sixth year, is a highly sought-after, high-profile business award in Texas. According to the DBJ, the award "recognizes the companies that make employee satisfaction their competitive edge. It adds value to a company's reputation in the community and enriches their corporate culture by acknowledging the pride that their managers and employees enjoy simply by going to work every day."

Texas Health Resources Employees Show Their Support By Giving Back

Individual hospitals in every geographic area of the Texas Health Resources (THR) system met and surpassed entity participation goals for the 2008 THR Associates campaign with more than $754,000 raised. This campaign offers employees an opportunity to directly support THR hospitals and programs. More than $7 million over the last six years has been raised to support a variety of programs across the system, including nursing and allied health scholarships, capital campaigns and community outreach. The 2008 campaign, "Growing Our Future," concluded with 4,400 participants – the most a THR Associates campaign has ever achieved.

Thank You to All Our Volunteers

More than 2,100 volunteers donated approximately 300,000 hours of their time in 2007 to taking care of patients, staff and visitors of Texas Health Resources hospital entities. A thank you goes to all of the THR employees, who in addition to their job commitments, gave more than 6,600 hours in community benefit.

Texas Health Resources Tops "Great 100 Nurses" List

Congratulations to the 26 THR nurses honored

Texas Health Resources (THR) had more nurses named to the Texas Nurses' Association's 2008 "Great 100 Nurses" list than any other North Texas health care system. The list recognizes nurses who are role models and have made a significant difference in nursing, in their hospitals and in the lives of patients.

Twenty-six registered nurses across THR's 13-hospital system were designated this year as "Great 100 Nurses." The list is selected each year by the Texas Nurses' Association. The THR hospitals represented include

Arlington Memorial Hospital (1 nurse),

Harris Methodist Fort Worth Hospital (6 nurses),

Harris Methodist H•E•B Hospital (4 nurses),

Harris Methodist Northwest Hospital (3 nurses),

Harris Methodist Walls Regional Hospital (3 nurses),

Presbyterian Hospital of Allen (1 nurse),

Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas (5 nurses),

Presbyterian Hospital of Plano (2 nurses)

and THR (1 nurse).

Puttin' on the Pink

Passport to Style

2008 luncheon and fashion presentation raises most money ever while taking guests around the world

When guests arrived at the Fort Worth Convention Center for the 15th annual Puttin' on the Pink Luncheon and Fashion Presentation on March 25, they received a gift bag containing a pink passport. That token became their "Passport to Style" as the more than 1,100 attendees walked into the ballroom only to feel as though they had been transported to famous places around the world.

With exquisite decorations of famous landmarks from Big Ben to the Eiffel Tower serving as backdrops and exotic flowers adorning each table as guests dined on a delectable lunch, the Kupferle Health Board of the Harris Methodist Health Foundation outdid themselves again. This is evident in the record setting net result of more than $286,000 raised!

Co-chairs Sheri Jones and Tamara Reese were thrilled with the success of the event and the wonderful impact the funds raised have on women's health care needs. "It was such an honor to co-chair an event that does so much for underserved women in our community," said Jones.

Added Reese, "None of this would be possible without the wonderful support of our community. Every year the crowd is so enthusiastic because they know the importance of what this event does for the health care offerings to women in this area."

During the luncheon, emceed by Mike Snyder, a high-end fashion show with featured stores including Dolce Vita, Sue Bearrie, Harold's, Terry Costa, John L. Ashe and Chelsea Lane Children's Boutique wowed the crowd as cancer survivor models from our community strutted the catwalk. Coming back for a second year were the popular table concierges with more than 75 local men participating.

Since 1993, this event has raised more than $2.5 million to provide breast cancer, cervical cancer, colon cancer and bone density screenings, and excisional biopsies for underserved women in the local area. Puttin' on the Pink has helped to underwrite three mobile mammography units that have provided screening mammograms to more than 32,000 women. A portion of this year's proceeds will also go toward an endowment to assist in providing funding to these programs far into the future.

For more information or to get involved in next year's Puttin' on the Pink, please call Kathleen Bundy at 817-317-5248.
